

Melbourne Water

Accessibility Inclusion Plan
2016 – 2018

Message from the Managing Director

At Melbourne Water, we are committed to supporting a diverse and inclusive culture, both internally and within the broader community.

Our vision is enhancing life and liveability. While we do this every day through the delivery of essential water services for our customers, we recognise that our vision does not discriminate and we need to ensure that for people living with a disability, or carers of someone who has a disability, we continue to offer equality and inclusion.

We acknowledge that approximately 1 in 5 people have a disability, both visible and non-visible, and we recognise that we have an important role to play in supporting and enhancing the life and liveability of not just those people, but also the carers and support networks.

We recognise that disability is relevant to every aspect of our business – our customers, our employees, our communities, our suppliers and our key stakeholders – and I am proud that our latest Accessibility Inclusion Plan covers each of these areas of our business.

Through creating positive visibility and awareness of people with a disability, we recognise the important change that this will bring to our entire company and I look forward to reporting on the implementation of these initiatives as we progress.

Michael Wandmaker
Managing Director

Our vision for an accessible Melbourne Water

Melbourne Water's vision is enhancing life and liveability.

We do this by delivering essential water services, desirable urban spaces and protecting our natural environment for future generations.

We recognise that actively supporting diversity and inclusion not only helps us to achieve our purpose, but also helps us to attract and retain the right talent, improve our agility and better understand our customer's needs.

Melbourne Water is committed to valuing and supporting individual differences and creating an environment where everyone can fully contribute to realise their full potential. We want to be an organisation as diverse as the community we serve, that embraces different perspectives and supports all our people to achieve fulfilling careers and lives.

We know that not all disabilities are visible and that some disabilities can develop over time, for example musculoskeletal conditions. We recognise that some people will acquire a disability while working at Melbourne Water, while others may support a person with a disability. Regardless of the disability or the caring responsibilities that our people have, we are committed to ensuring that Melbourne Water is accessible and inclusive to everyone.

We know the important role that people with a disability play in our community and in our organisation. We also recognise that in order to best support people with a disability, we must continue to review and implement organisational change which enables Melbourne Water to be accessible to all.

Our Business

Melbourne Water is owned by the Victorian Government and has provided safe, secure and affordable water services to Melbourne for over 125 years.

We treat and supply drinking and recycled water, remove and treat most of Melbourne's sewage, and manage waterways and major drainage systems in the Port Phillip and Westernport region. In doing so, we strive to deliver solutions that are financially and environmentally sustainable and achieve the best outcomes for the community.

We value strong relationships with our customers and stakeholders in the community, government and industry, and care for the health and wellbeing of our people – which includes nurturing a diverse and inclusive working environment.

Legislative Framework

In 2006, the Victorian Parliament passed the Disability Act 2006 (as amended). This Act included a provision to make it mandatory for all government departments, statutory authorities and statutory corporations to develop Disability Action Plans.

The Victorian Government understands that people with disabilities, like all members of the community, should have access to a range of programs, services, facilities and employment opportunities that support quality of life.

While disability may be difficult to define, formal definitions such as those in legislation at State (Disability Act 2006) and Federal level (Disability Discrimination Act 1992) reveal that disability is much wider than usually thought. The definition contained in the Disability Discrimination Act 1992 covers disabilities which are physical, intellectual, psychiatric, sensory and neurological. The definition also covers physical disfigurement and the presence of disease-causing organisms, such as HIV. This definition is applicable to a disability that currently exists, may exist in the future or is otherwise imputed to exist.

This Accessibility Inclusion Plan will help Melbourne Water continue to identify and, where possible, remove barriers to ensure that our employees and stakeholders have an opportunity to be part of the Melbourne Water community.

Melbourne Water will report the implementation of its Accessibility Inclusion Plan annually as consistent with Section 38 of the Disability Act 2006.

Implementation

Delivering the actions in our Accessibility Inclusion Plan is the responsibility of all Melbourne Water people, including our leadership team. The Diversity and Inclusion Manager, together with the Accessibility Working Group, will be accountable for ensuring this happens.

We envisage that through this organisational commitment, Melbourne Water will foster a culture that demonstrates an increased awareness and understanding of inclusion of people with a disability and carers of someone with a disability.

The Accessibility Inclusion Plan will be reviewed in the first half of 2018 to evaluate its effectiveness, with the findings used to further improve the plan.

The Diversity and Inclusion Steering Committee will monitor improvements on an ongoing basis and will report to the Melbourne Water Board of Directors on these developments.

As further demonstration of our commitment to implementing this Accessibility Inclusion Plan, Melbourne Water will lodge this Plan with the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission.
